

Mind Mixer Announces Winner of Drawing

Mind Mixer, Vision West North Dakota's an online community-based discussion platform, announced the winner of its drawing. Any community member located in the 19 oil and gas producing counties in western North Dakota had an opportunity to win a Samsung Galaxy Tab 2 (7.0). In order to participate in the drawing, community members were asked to "join the conversation" by registering on the Mind Mixer website (<http://ideas.visionwestnd.com/>). The discussions on this website center on the challenges and solution needed to create sustainable communities.

The winner of Mind Mixers first drawing was Chris Myers. Meyers is an Engineering Technician at AE2S and is a volunteer with the Williston Community Builders. Meyer uses the Mind Mixer platform as a tool to get his ideas heard by community leaders who have the power to act. When we asked Meyer why he uses Mind Mixer he replied, "It strengthens a community when like-minded people connect."

Meyer encourages other community members to join the conversations on Mind Mixer and capitalize on the opportunity to share their ideas.

Mind Mixer promotes change through a cooperative process of problem solving and information sharing. Its foundation builds on the collective ideas of a community in an effort to create powerful solutions that help communities thrive.

The face of North Dakota will inevitably continue to change. Every North Dakotan has the opportunity to determine how that change will happen. Meyer said, "Western North Dakota needs change but must keep its heritage intact."

Don't miss an opportunity to be a part of the change that makes great things happen in your community. Visit the Mind Mixer website and join the conversation; be a pioneer.
